New Year New Trends AI in 2019 Ai Applied Artificial

As new advancements in technology work their way into work-related tasks, employees will experience more training to enhance their abilities in working with AI applications. This training may even be given with the use of AI itself! Through AR (Augmented Reality), and VR (Virtual Reality), employees will be taught how to properly collaborate with AI in order to carry out strategic objectives more effectively.

Trends in artificial intelligence technology Clickatell

Few things have the transformative potential of artificial intelligence (AI). It has the power to completely change how we live, work and get around. If electricity and the internet changed humanity forever in the 20th century, then AI will in the 21st. It s predicted that AI will bring a massive shift in how people perceive and interact with technology, with machines performing a greater and greater number of tasks and, in many cases, doing a better job of it than humans.
